

Reasons to Invest in Panama

There are many reasons why investing in Panama is a smart financial decision.

- 1. It has a privileged geographical position between North American and South America, and the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, which has positioned it as a business hub for the region.
- 2. Panama has developed an unparalleled transportation and communication network that includes the Panama Canal, one of the most active port complexes in Latin America and the second most important free trade zone in the world.
- 3. Panama's economy has reached growth rates that place it in the top positions in the Latin American region.
- 4. Panama is the country with the second highest level of technology in Latin America and the country with the most connectivity in the region, with nearly 70 air routes to 31 countries.
- 5. It has become a growth hub for commerce, finance, business, and tourism.
- 6. The city of Panama is an important global center for international banking and related financial activity.
- 7. Special permits are not required to qualify as an investor to invest in real estate.
- 8. The acquisition of real estate is tax-free for 5 to 20 years, depending on the location and type of property.
- 9. 66% of the Panamanian International Banking Center is made up of foreign banks and 59% of the assets of the national banking system are from international private banks, 30% from Panamanian private banks and 11% from government banks.
- 10. Natural disasters are not common, which makes it a safe territory for building.
